

Privacy Policy

N-III only uses cookies that are minimum requirements to use this website. Any additional information provided by the user through the “Contact Us” portion of the website will only be used by N-III for sales purposes and will not be sold by N-III to third parties. Information will only be shared with 3rd parties if they are law enforcement with legal subpoena.

Minimum required cookies will be installed automatically and any additional data must be provided by the user.

Information provided by a website visitor via the “Contact Us” form will be stored on the cloud by the web hosting service hosting this website.

N-III may use the visitor supplied information for e-mail or telephone marketing.

The web hosting service collects rough location information for use in its analytics supplied to N-III.

All cookies used by this site are temporary and expire either after closing the site or within a short period of time after closing the site.

If you wish your data supplied via the “Contact Us” form purged, please e-mail N-III at Info@N-III.com or reach out using the “Contact Us” form on the website with the request.

N-III may change these terms at any time, and without notice, for any reason N-III deems appropriate.

If you have any questions please contact N-III at the phone number supplied on the website or using the “Contact Us” form.